Take your cleaning, pressing or repairing to Gus Bocik's Tailor Shop, 7822 Halsted St., for best results.

Calumet-Auburn Park Parent-Teacher Association announces a charity card party and dance at Auburn Park Masonic Temple, 7838 Union Ave., for the benefit of a worthy neighbor. Several other organizations have promised their co-operation in the effort to make the undertaking a success. Mr. Vogel of 7857 Halsted St. has offered a pair of $5.00 dancing slippers as a prize to the person selling the greatest number of tickets.

West Auburn Park Auxiliary of the Red Cross is rapidly growing. Last week the surgical dressing department in charge of Miss Hazel Sprague and Miss Clara Raugh did a splendid day's work. Mrs. Josephine Davidson, head of the sewing department, and Mrs. Fred Yetter, head of the department of knitting, have a corps of most efficient workers, and are turning out many finished garments. Meetings are held all day Thursday, 78th and Morgan Sts. Workers welcomed.

Stenographers in Big Demand

Government offices and business houses are in urgent need of trained, efficient stenographers. If you are now engaged in a less profitable or pleasant occupation you should take steps at once to qualify for one of these well-paid positions. You can easily learn this desirable work without interfering with your present job and without the usual unsatisfactory conditions surrounding classroom study.

Investigate, without obligation, the sure, quick, easy, individual methods taught by Miss Middleton's Private Shorthand School in convenient day or evening lessons, at 7756 S. Halsted St., 2nd floor.

Coal Assured

The Fuel Administration has been working on plans to facilitate the deliveries of coal to the private residents, institutions, hospitals, army and navy cantonments, public utilities and those who handle perishable food.

Mr. John E. Williams, fuel administrator for Illinois, has directed all mine operators in the state to set aside their entire output on Feb. 5 for the use of homes, hospitals, etc.

Cook County has been divided into twelve zones. A chairman is placed at the head of each zone.

The district chairmen held their first meeting Saturday and discussed plans with the track dealers.

The manager of each yard is to notify his district chairman each day the exact amount of coal he has on hand. The chairmen will report to the Chicago Coal Merchants' Association, and they in turn to the Fuel Administration.

Each purchaser is required to sign a statement telling just how much coal he has on hand and how long the purchase will last.

Schools will be kept open if possible.

Janitors are asked to keep halls and corridors of apartment buildings and public halls at the lowest possible temperature.

See that no room in your house is above 70 degrees. Keep the heat turned off in rooms you are not using.

Thrift Week, Feb. 3-9

This is thrift week.

You are urgently urged to buy United States Government Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

Each stamp costs twenty-five cents. Sixteen Thrift Stamps and a few pennies buys one War Saving Stamp.

Twenty War Savings Stamps fill one War Saving Certificate.

Each War Saving Certificate filled with 20 War Savings Stamps will be redeemed by the United States Government at the Postoffice for $100 in cash on Jan. 1, 1923.

If you cannot buy a $100 Certificate you can at least buy a War Savings Stamp, $4.13 (during February), or on the installment plan, 25c a stamp, until sixteen stamps are purchased. They cannot decline in value.

War Savings Stamps (or Baby Liberty Bonds) earn 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. A safe investment, backed by the richest nation in the world.

Buy one for each member of your family.

Letter carriers, postoffices, banks, retail stores and other authorized agents sell stamps. Stamps will be delivered C. O. D. by your letter carrier.

Do your bit!

St. Sabina's Holy Name Society will have a bunco and card party Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1918, in the Auditorium, 78th and Throop Sts. Score cards, 35c each.

Many beautiful prizes are being donated for the card party Feb. 6, 1918, for the benefit of St. Sabina's church. Starting this week all card parties will begin at 8:45 sharp. Come early or take a low score punch.

Feed Dealers to Be Licensed by Feb. 15

Manufacturers and dealers in commercial feeds for livestock, cattle and hogs must secure licenses under the Food Administration by Feb. 15. This covers baled hay, shelled and ear corn and many other commodities intended for use as feeds or as ingredients in mixed feeds. The only exceptions are for millers manufacturing bran and dealers in coarse grains, who have already been placed under Food Administration licenses.

Applications for license should be addressed to the license division, Food Administration, Washington, D. C., specifying the nature of the business to be licensed.

The Charity Ball

The St. Leo's Aid Society is finishing up the work of the Charity Ball with a rush and the results are very gratifying. Practically all arrangements have been completed and everyone is now waiting for the big night, Feb. 11.

CITY OF CHICAGO
Office of
General Superintendent of Police
Jan. 17, 1918.

From—General Superintendent of Police.

To—Commanding Officer, Chicago Police Reserves.

Subject—Removal of Snow by Police Reserves.

I desire to commend the members of the Chicago Police Reserve for the efficacious work performed by them in removing the snow during the recent blizzards.

I have heard nothing but praises for the good work done by all of you.

Please extend thanks of myself and every member of the Department to the members of the organization of which you have the honor to be the commanding officer.

(Signed) H. F. SCHUETTLER,
General Superintendent.

The number of women employed in munition factories has increased from 3,500 in 1910 to more than 100,000 in 1917, according to a report made to the National League of Women's Service, and 1,266,000 women are engaged in industrial work which is directly or indirectly necessary to carry on the war.

This is a United States Thrift Card. Have you got yours yet? Every man, woman and child in Illinois should have one.

This Is a Thrift Card

This is a thrift card.

It is a sign of patriotism to have one.

It is a card that gives every man, every woman and every child an opportunity to join the great Army of Thrift to back up the men in the trenches.

Every time you buy a stamp and stick it on this card you are buying a bullet that may save an American soldier's life, or helping to buy a pair of shoes or a warm blanket that may keep him from having pneumonia.

Every time you stick a stamp on this card you are bringing the defeat of the kaiser and his armed millions just that much nearer.

If you do without some little, useless thing to save the money to buy your stamp, you are doing your country a double service. You not only help to buy something that the soldiers need, but you help to release workers that your country needs just as badly as it needs soldiers. If American workers are busy making useless little gimcracks, naturally they cannot be making shells, making guns and making ships to help win the war.

In pasting stamps on this card you are not only doing your country a service, but you are helping yourself. When this card is filled you can take it to your postoffice and exchange it for a War Savings Stamp. Then you start your War Savings card. This holds twenty stamps. Every stamp on it is a baby government bond. It is redemable, Jan. 1, 1923, for $5. The government pays you interest on your money, while it holds it, at the rate of 4 per cent, compounded every three months. If you need your money at any time, you can cash it in at the postoffice, and the government will allow you 3 per cent for the time it has had your cash.

But it is not likely you will wish to cash it in. You will wish to add to the stamps on the War Savings card until you have twenty pasted on it. Then it becomes a War Savings Certificate, redeemable Jan. 1, 1923, for $100.

You will find it a mighty comfortable nest egg for that rainy day which may come some time, and you will never miss the money with which you bought it.

A Sad Taol.

An Englishman who was in gaol
Emitted a very loud waol.
"I'm locked up," said he,
"Where they never serve tea,
And I don't know where I can raise baol."

Har, Har!

"Just take a look at that girl," said Mr. Gabb. "Gee, but she is thin, isn't she?"

"Yes," sniffed Mrs. Gabb. "She is almost as thin as a married man's excuse when he gets home late."

Poems You May Not Care to Read.

Kindly notify Will Ater
If a dead one you have got.
Either phone will bring his wagon,
For he's John'e on the spot.
You don't need to call the sexton,
You will have no bills to pay,
Simply tell Will where he's lying,
He will take the horse away.
You don't need to dig for hours
In the gravel or the clay,
Ater's ready with his wagon
For to take your dead away.
So if you should be the loser
Of a horse or hog or goat,
Call for Ater and his wagon,
He'll come out and get the bloat.
What a blessing to this country,
Bill will go where devils tread
To remove the bloated carcass
Of a horse or hog that's dead.

Introduction Needed.

For a long time Clawson has been thirsting to tell Blobkins that he and George Washington had nothing in common, but had never found an opportunity. One day, however, they met at the academy and stood together gazing at a lovely little statue. Clawson turned to his catalogue.

"Ah," he said 'this is 'Truth'" Waving a hand toward the statue, he said 'Truth, allow me to present my friend Mr. Blobkins I feel sure you two have never met before"—London Answers.

It has been demonstrated that chronic infection in a tonsil or an abscess at the root of a tooth may be and frequently is the source from which an articular rheumatism or an acute valvular disease of the heart has its origin.

The Bonehead Bee.

The intelligence of the honeybee has been greatly overrated, according to Everett F. Phillips, who is the government expert on bee culture. He says that this insect really has no adaptability at all, but a wonderfully perfected instinct. Success in beekeeping, therefore, depends upon studying the bee and giving it exactly what its imperious instincts require. For example, the space between the wall of a hive and the comb in which the honey is to be placed must be exactly a quarter of an inch If it is more the bees will store honey in the space, and if it is less they will seal it closed. In either case the hive must be broken open to get the honey.—Baltimore Star

Boy Poets.

Keats wrote his famous "Ode to Autumn" in his sixteenth year and, indeed, all his five great odes, among the greatest in any language, before he attained legal manhood. He died at twenty-five Robert Burns wrote that scathing satire, "Holy Willie's Prayer," when he had barely passed his youth, and, indeed, the whole of the poems in the famous Kilmarnock edition were written before he was twenty-five. But even the precocity of Burns was put in the shade by that of Chatterton, who committed suicide in a fit of despair in a London garret when he was seventeen. He wrote the whole huge volume of the Rowley poems when he was a schoolboy at Bristol.

Secondhand Goods.

Your position in society is determined by the sort of secondhand goods you buy.

Perhaps you think this is a joke, but it isn't. Think it over. When a man is poor he patronizes a secondhand clothing merchant. When he gets very rich he patronizes a secondhand furniture dealer. Only the middle class shuns both secondhand stores.

And the very poor and the very rich meet at a secondhand bookshop.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Lesser Evil.

"Lushman declared he would rather go to jail than pay his divorced wife alimony"

"Did she let him?"

"Yes, she said she'd much rather see him save his money behind bars than spend it over them."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Spirit of the Times.

It is an age of artificial devices Rare, indeed, is the man and later still the woman in whose physical makeup there is not something false, either eyes or teeth or hair.—Atlantic.

No Chance.

Mrs. Jones—It's queer that baby doesn't talk She's almost two years old and hasn't spoken a word yet Mr. Jones—I know, dear, but do you ever give baby a chance?

A Minister of Magic.

In the course of an address delivered in London Canon Parfit of Bagdad said that what impressed native rulers in the east was the scrupulous honesty of the English officials. The sultan of Turkey on one occasion was watching a conjurer. The British ambassador, who was present, remarked that it was "wonderful."

"No," said the sultan, "not so wonderful as all that. I once had a minister of marine who swallowed a battleship—at least he had the money for it, and I've never seen the money or the ship!"

Knew Value of Money.

"That young chap you are going around with is a regular pinhead!" stormed Bertha's father. "He doesn't even know the value of money!"

"Oh, yes, he does!" said Bertha "He says that he wouldn't give a plugged nickel for your opinion on anything."—Puck.

Use of Words.

Many a writer who would never descend to the crime of "most unique" or "very unique" will yet be guilty of qualifying the unqualifiable by "rather." And, while we are in the place where we are commanded if not of conscience at least of pure cussedness to correct the mistakes of others, let us protest against those who are in the habit of having "forecasted" the weather accurately. They might vary the monotony by having "prophesieded," "predicteded" or "anticipateded" it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Lamprey's Nest.

The nest building efforts of the common lamprey eel show a degree of cleverness that is really very wonderful. When the nesting time comes the fish leave the coast water and make their way up river. There at a likely spot upon the bottom the two eels proceed to build a nest with stones for spawning, the stones being brought in the creatures' mouths and deposited in the form of a heap. When a large stone is wanted the fish combine and, gripping it with their mouths by suction, carry it together and deposit it upon the heap, which may attain a height of two or three feet.—London Telegraph.

TWO ROADS.

Every evil and wasteful habit we persist in draws upon our strength and resources without any proper return, and every such habit weakens our power for good. On the other hand, every task that is faithfully done, every responsibility manfully borne in the path of duty, steadies us like well bestowed ballast.

By Poet.

Maurice Maeterlinck, they say, one day found the little daughter of a friend very busily and conscientiously blackening a nice sheet of white paper. He asked to whom she was writing.

"To Prince Charming," said the child.

Naturally the reply delighted the author of "The Blue Bird." When the little girl had finished her letter she put the sheet of paper in an envelope, wrote on it "The Prince Charming" and said to Maeterlinck:

"Please stick a stamp on it and put it in the post."

A man to whom the poet was telling the story interrupted him at this point.

"And what," said he, "did you do about it?"

"Well," said Maeterlinck dreamily, "I stuck a stamp on the envelope, and I put the letter to the Prince Charming in the letter box on the corner. You never can tell."—New York Post.

A Matter of Economy.

"But why do you wish to have a running account at the department store?" asked the husband. "Do you think it saves you anything?"

"Of course it does, you silly thing. Isn't that just like a man! It saves me more than you can imagine," answered the wife in a breath.

"But what does it save?" persisted the husband.

"Time. I don't have to stop and ask the price of anything I want to buy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Daddy."

"Dad" is the English of "papa." "Dad" and "daddy" were well known in the sixteenth century. "Papa" did not come in, borrowed from abroad, until the seventeenth century was well advanced.

Florio at about the end of the former century defined the Italian "papa" as "the first word that children are taught to call their father, as ours say dad, daddie or bab" "Dad" seems to be the commoner to mankind of the two. Nausicaa in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa phile" (dear papa), but Greek had "tata" also, and Welsh has "tat" and Irish has "daid."—London Chronicle

The daughter of Herodias brought the head of John the Baptist in a charger (Matthew xiv, 8)—probably a trencher or platter.

Leaves on a Tree.

Why should a tree have either opposite or alternate leaves entirely, and what difference does it make in the growth of the tree? Among trees native to the United States but three families have opposite leaves, the ashes, the maples and the horse chestnuts As mature trees they do not differ in appearance from the great number of alternate leaved trees. Why is this so, or why should a few have opposite leaves and branches? — Los Angeles Times.

Queer Pets.

Probably the oddest passenger ever seen in a public vehicle was the pet bear that Frank Buckland would frequently take for drives in a four wheeler. Quite recently the present writer saw a lady passenger in an omnibus fondling a chimpanzee, a man in a train with a large pet rat peeping out of his side pocket, while a parrot enjoying a free tram ride perched on his master's shoulder is not at all an uncommon sight in a northern suburb.—London Chronicle.

Why He Sees Double.

The reason that a man sees double who has gazed too long on the wine when it is red is that the nerve centers are changed by the action of the alcohol. There is a want of harmony in the action of the muscles which move the eyeballs. Consequently instead of both eyes being focused simultaneously on an object one eye receives an impression independently of the other. The two impressions are communicated to the brain, and the object is therefore seen twice. The inflamed condition and loss of energy in the brain centers from overdoses of alcohol also account for the staggering gait of an intoxicated man.

His Attraction.

He—You used to say there was something about me you liked She—So I did. But you've spent it all.—Minnehaha.

Oh, what men dare do, what men may do, what men daily do, not knowing what they do!—Shakespeare

Business.

The missive had been following me for some time and was covered with "Try this and try that place," indorsed by different postal officials. It announced that the cousin mentioned earlier in my narrative, a vigorous man of thirty, had broken his neck following the hounds, and since his wife had not presented him with an heir I was Earl of Barrowfield.

I called up my chief, reported the case so far as I had followed it and offered my resignation from his force on the ground that I had business of my own that demanded attention. Before Mr. Ainsworth went out for the day I told him where he would find the plunder I had discovered and made a clean breast of the fact that I had learned where it was, not by a deep laid and methodical process, but by accident, and declined to receive any pay for my services or to permit any charge to be made by the bureau I represented.

Mr. Ainsworth declined to accept my services either as a detective or as his daughter's music teacher. After arguing with him for awhile I showed him the letter I had received that morning changing my condition from a detective to a nobleman.

"While I am not the son of an old friend of yours," I said, "I am or at least have been in forlorn circumstances. I am your debtor, not you mine, since I have received every kindness at the hands of your family."

It was agreed between us that it would be better to inform the members of his family that I was not the son of his old friend, but that in considering me a gentleman they had not been deceived. Mrs. Ainsworth was informed first that the bulk of her lost property had been recovered, that I had come to the house as a detective

Wm S HART in "Wolves of the Rail" An ARTCRAFT Picture

"Wolves of the Rail"

In his newest Artcraft picture, 'Wolves of the Rail' which will be shown at the Cosmopolitan Theater on Sunday Feb 10 William S Hart the Thos H Ince star is introduced in a new role—that of an upholder of law and order rather than an outlaw although the early scenes of the drama depict Hart as the leader of a daring and notorious gang of bandits, who so terrify the officials of a western railroad that a famous eastern detective known as The Blood Hound is sent to break them up

How Hart is Buck Andrade meets this detective how his reformation is brought about at the bedside of his dying mother and how he does the work that The Bloodhound came west to accomplish forms the basis of a thrilling and interesting photoplay is Hart's latest made In deed Thos H Ince who produced 'Wolves of the Rail' ventures the opinion that this Hart offering is the best in which this famous character has appeared since becoming an Art craft star

In the role of Buck Andrade Hart finds his reformation made easier by the companionship and devotion of Ruth Lawson a young girl who has succeeded to her dead fathers job as towerman" at the Smoky Gap mountain station In face Ruth and Buck are the central figures in a pretty romance which adds considerable interest to the while story

Wolves of the Rail is a thrilling There is no letup in the action scene following scene in rapid sequence Of course Hart is prominent in the episodes and consequently there is sufficient action to delight the admirers of the star Hart is supported by a company of especially capable players

'Sadie Goes to Heaven' Essanay

The feature that day will be Sadie Goes to Heaven in which Mary plays the star part It is a dandy feature full of comedy and pathos and we know that you will love little Mary and also Bobo when you see them in this feature and then have a little visit with them after each performance Better attend the matinee and be sure of a good seat

"Son of Democracy" at the Cosmopolitan

Probably no other motion picture ever has been so highly praised and favorably discussed as Benjamin Chapin The Son of Democracy presented by Paramount which will begin its run at the Cosmopolitan Theater on Sunday Feb 23

The Son of Democracy consists of ten two reel dramas each complete in itself One is to be presented each week Mr Chapin has been working five years on these comedy dramas of early American life They are bristling with adventure humor and pathos and are of special interest at this time in that Abraham Lincoln the boy and the President are leading characters in the thrilling tales

Benjamin Chapin is known as one of the finest of motion picture directors with a special talent for genuine humor and heart interest As an impersonator of Abraham Lincoln lecturer vaudeville actor and dramatist his fame is nation wide In 'The Son of Democracy' which he wrote directed and produced he makes Abe a regular boy and emphasizes the truly human side of his rise to the presidency In the White House stories Mr Chapin shows the inside workings of this political demonstration that Lincoln's problems were much the same as those of President Wilson Always the play is seed humored

Such personages as Josephus Daniels secretary of the navy Mr William Grant Brown president of the New York State Federation of Womens Clubs, Alice Nielson the grand opera star and others of note recommend 'The Son of Democracy' as an unusually fine production

"The Son of Democracy is first a splendid entertainment It has all the elements of the best of features—first rate fights, gasp bringing thrills, genuine comedy moments that bring real terms and always the suspense necessary for a successful play Throughout the nation it has been recommended by workers for better pictures

On the same program with the first feature of 'The Son of Democracy' Manager Lung will present Mary Pickford in 'Stella Maris'

Edith Storey Likes Athletic Roles

Edith Storey, the star of the Metro picture 'The Eyes of Mystery' which will be the attraction at the Cosmopolitan Theater on Friday Feb 9 delights in playing athletic roles on the screen

I feel that my role of Carma Carmichael in 'The Eyes of Mystery' is very well suited to me said Miss Storey in an interview I just love the type of role that gives me opportunities to wear 'sport clothes and to be a red red blooded athletic girl who rides swims and shoots I love the great outdoors which develops the girl of individuality and 'go to it' ness

In this new photoplay Miss Storey is able to do all the athletic stunts which she enjoys She makes a thrilling escape on horseback and being pursued by a man in a rowboat when she rides across a stream she has a terrific struggle in midstream with her pursuer In other scenes she shows her ability with a gun when with the aid of a few men she defends the historic House in the Mist' from a host of half crazed Virginia mountaineers The Eyes of Mystery is replete with thrills

"Woman and Wife"

'Woman and Wife, adapted from Charlotte Brontes beloved novel Jane Eyre will be shown at the Cosmopolitan Theater next Wednesday Feb 6 This protodrama is the second Select Star Series release featuring Alice Brady who surpasses here even her previous success in Her Silent Sacrifice

In her sympathetic delineation of the much suffering heroine Miss Brady rises to a high rank as one of our leading emotional actresses Jane Eyre is a poor girl who travels over a long rocky road before she finally wins to her haven of happiness Just as a poor relation among cold hearted relatives later as an inmate of an institution for orphans under a cruel supervisor and lastly as a governess to the child of the man she loves and who loves her even here she finds seemingly insurmountable obstacles to happiness A kind fate finally intervenes and after many privation and sorrows she is united with her true lover

'Woman and Wife' is a picture play worthy to revive your memories of the heroine of 'Jane Eyre whom you recall with such deep affection and Alice Bradys characterization of the luckless girl will endear her to your hearts

"The Spirit of '17"

As a basis for "The Spirit of '17," in which Jack Pickford is to star at the Cosmopolitan Theater on Thursday, Feb 7, Judge Willis Brown, the author, has employed an exceedingly timely theme, dealing with the labor agitations that are now causing so much trouble throughout our country "The Spirit of '17" has its locale in the copper mining district, near which is situated an Old Soldiers' Home Trouble is caused in the town as a result of the work of German agents and young Davy Gliddens (Jack Pickford) conceives the novel idea of mobilizing the forces of the Old Soldiers' Home to defend the town until the regular troops can be summoned A splendid cast and the excellent direction of William D Taylor have added then full quota of success to Mr Pickford's newest picture

Pershing Praises Our Fighting Men

In a recent communication to Secretary of War Baker the commander of the American Expeditionary forces said

'There has never been a similar body of men to lead as clean lives as our American soldiers in France They have entered this war with the highest devotion to duty and with no other idea than to perform these duties in most efficient manner possible They fully realize their obligation to their own people their friends and the country A rigid program of instruction is carried out daily with traditional American enthusiasm Engaged in healthy interesting exercises in the open air, with simple diets, officers and men like trained athletes are ready for their tasks Forbidden the use of strong drink and protected by stringent regulations against sexual evils and supported by their own moral courage their good behavior is the subject of most favorable comments especially by our allies American mothers may rest assured that their sons are a credit to them and to the Nation and they may well look forward to the proud day when on the battlefield these splendid men will shed a new luster on American manhood

Advertise Now, Says G. F. Lord

At a recent meeting of the New York Business Publishers Association Geo Frank Lord director of advertising for J J du Pont de Nemours Company delivered the following address on the question Is this the time to Stop Advertising He said

The question I have been asked to discuss is one of the many growing out of the atmosphere of uncertainty that permeates the business world due to the unprecedented conditions that now exist It seems to me that this question and many others Americans answer to it is the crucial test of the progress of advertising It advertising is the power advertising men claim there should be no doubt as to how that power can be used in the present emergency

My belief is that the test on for the existence of the question is that we advertising men have failed to sell advertising properly to our executives because the average executive insists upon trying each year's expenditures to that same year's sales expectations If the sales outlook is poor he wants to restrict his advertising if good he is willing to increase it

What we apparently have failed to do is to sell the really greatest power of advertising and that is its ability to stabilize and develop the business advertised rather than the particular commodity chosen for merchandising If advertising is ephemeral living or dying with the daily monthly or yearly merchandising campaign then we should surely trim our sails to meet the current shifting breezes If on the other hand advertising is a process of market development heading for a specific goal we will push on through storm or calm with or against the wind or current until that goal is reached

History records that all great wars have been followed soon by periods of intense reconstruction That the present war surpasses all others in magnitude and destructiveness only means that its sequel of reconstruction will also surpass all others in magnitude

In my opinion the world market is not the one from which we may expect our greatest commercial return The greatest market for American products should be America We imported in 1913 goods worth, in round figures, $1 800 000 000, equivalent now at the current purchasing power of our money, to nearly twice that sum For more than three years we have been obliged to produce in this country much of what was formerly imported and with our war born facilities we are going to be still less dependent on our imports than ever before

Most emphatically I believe that now is not the time to stop advertising On the contrary it is the time to start more and better advertising than we have ever done before It takes fully as much time to bring an advertising campaign into full action as a military campaign, We do not know how much or how little time we have to sell the made in America idea to America and to the world at large We do know that we have right now all the resources necessary to make this country the most prosperous manufacturer in the world as soon as we are able to turn out capital facilities and organizations loose on peace products Why should we hesitate to show our faith in the future of America by building for that future"

Norway's Long Day.

Summer time brings more than two months of continuous daylight at Wardburg, Norway, in the "Land of the Midnight Sun." That little village near the North cape has the longest day of any civilized community in the world, extending from May 21 to July 22, during which period the sun is at all times visible except when obscured by clouds.

To endure injustice without answering it with hatred, to endure grief without having the spirit broken, to endure disappointment and yet to go on cheerfully—these things make character.

Be Active.

To be active is the primary vocation of man. All the intervals in which he is obliged to rest he should employ in gaining clearer knowledge of external things, for this will in its turn facilitate activity.

Work For Others.

If you are in doubt about this and that, worrying about yourself and not hopeful of any one else and forever restless and anxious, go out and work for others and you will feel the healthy glow of new life.

SUFFERING.

Suffering is a heavy plow guided by an iron hand; the more barren and rebellious the soil the more it is torn; the richer and softer it is the deeper the furrows.

In bait casting for black bass casting as often as possible annoys the fish so much that it will finally take a whack at the bait merely because of its combative nature.

An Odd Moorish Custom.

As a people the Moors are already well inclined to anything that gilds life. A correspondent says: "Nothing delights them more as a means of agreeably spending an hour or two than squatting on their heels in the streets or on some door stoop, gazing at the passersby, exchanging compliments with their acquaintances. Native 'swells' consequently promenade with a piece of felt under their arms, on which to sit when they wish."—London Spectator.

Love's Blindness.

Miss Louise says if you want to know just how blind love is all you need to do is watch an engaged girl trying to find a price mark on the box in which her fiancee sent her a birthday present.—Macon Telegraph.

Corks In Mucilage Bottles.

By spreading vaseline on the sides of the cork and inside of the bottle neck it will prevent corks from sticking in paste and mucilage bottles and overcome the trouble caused by breaking off when trying to take them out.

The sewing machine was given to the country in 1846.

All In the Day's Work.

A Pittsfield woman arose at 5 o'clock, trimmed one hat and finished a dress for her daughter, canned fifteen quarts of preserves, baked bread, did the washing, enameled a bedstead, cleaned the parlor and repotted half a dozen plants, wrote two letters, prepared three meals and put up one dinner, cleaned the cellar and took care of the furnace, answered the telephone, gave store orders, raked the back lawn and then went up street to see a show.—Indianapolis News.

When a ship is sunk or otherwise perishes that part of her cargo that floats on the sea is termed flotsam. It is jetsam when the ship is in danger of being sunk, and to lighten her the goods are cast into the sea.

An Anthem to Order.

Lord Kitchener on one occasion invented a national anthem. It was upon the occasion of a visit to India of the ameer of Afghanistan, and the order went around that all military bands were to greet him with the national anthem of Afghanistan. But no one knew what it was, and Lord Kitchener was appealed to.

"What does it matter two straws?" he said. "Play a bar or two of something slow and pompous and let it go at that."

So the first band that greeted the ameer played a march from one of the German operas very slowly and solemnly, and this was generally taken up by the whole of the bands in India.

Question With Two Sides.

Bacon—If you want to live long keep active. Egbert—I don't know about that. Take the toads, for instance; they only live about fifteen years, and they are always on the jump.—Yonkers Statesman.

Cold Reality.

"While there's life there's hope."

"Yes," replied Mr. Sawyer Wood, "but unless you put some solid work into this life hope is about all you are going to get out of it."—Washington Star.

Nothing Wrong.

"Do you see those two men studying a chart?"

"Certainly."

"I happen to know that they are planning a crooked piece of work."

"Surely not."

"Yes. They are two engineers who are mapping out a scenic railway."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Dispelling the Illusion.

Suppose you should be startled in the dark night by something which looked like a specter? Would not he who should bring a lantern and show you that it was but a white cloth hanging to a bush give you far greater encouragement than he who merely exhorted you to keep up your heart, look the other way, whistle and pass on?—Richard Whately.

Temple of Diana.

The famous temple of Diana was built at Ephesus in 552 B. C. by the common fund of all the Greek states of Asia. Pliny says that 220 years were spent in erecting it. It was set on fire in 356 B. C. and again rebuilt and was finally destroyed by the Goths about 256 A. D. The ruins of the famous temple, after serving as a quarry for the surrounding region for a long time, were finally discovered by Mr. Wood in 1869. The temple of Diana was 425 feet long, 225 feet wide and was supported by 127 columns sixty feet high, each weighing 150 tons. The marble of the columns was of the pure Parian variety.

How Horace Walpole Dressed.

In the early part of the eighteenth century, says the author of "Social England," a fashionable gentleman ordinarily wore a toupee of curls raised high over his forehead. For daily wear most gentlemen were dressed like George I., dark tie, wig, plain coat, waistcoat and breeches of snuff colored cloth and stockings of the same color; for ceremony, like Horace Walpole, in a lavender suit, the waistcoat embroidered with a little silver or of white silk embroidered in the tambour frame, partridge silk stockings, gold buckles, ruffles, lace frill and powdered wig. The linen for shirts was bought in Holland, costing from 10 to 14 shillings the English ell.

More Appropriate.

"Young hired man, out there under the tree, is a most picturesque figure," said the stranger with the flowing necktie. "I should like to paint him, and"—

"Sartin!" replied honest Farmer Bentover. "Paint him all ye want to. But it would do him more good to sandpaper him. He is petrified."—Kansas City Star.

Easy Answer.

"His wife makes him go to church every Sunday."

"How do you know she makes him go?"

"Because he goes."—Detroit Saturday Night.

Historic Macao.

For many years the Portuguese, through their rulership of Macao, held control of the foreign trade of China, for this was the only safe, friendly port where foreign ships could anchor. Here the merchantmen of the Honorable East India company, the tea clipper ships from Boston and Salem and the Dutch ships on their way to Nagasaki stopped for supplies, repairs and the news of the world. St. Francis Xavier lived here and from here made his ineffectual efforts to reach the mainland of China. He is buried on a nearby island. Here the first treaty between the United States and China was signed, and here American diplomatic officials lived before they were allowed on Chinese soil. It was here that the first Chinese firecrackers were purchased by American skippers and brought home to start a custom which has enlivened and endangered a century of Fourths of July.—Argonaut.

Dixie's Land.

The term "Dixie's Land" originated in New York in the early part of the past century. It is said to have come into general use when Texas joined the Union, and the negroes sang of it as "Dixie."

In the popular mythology of New York city Dixie was the negro's paradise on earth in times when slavery and the slave trade were flourishing in that quarter. Dixie owned a tract of land on Manhattan Island, and also a large number of slaves, and his slaves increased faster than his land, an emigration ensued and naturally negroes who left it for distant parts looked to it as a place of unalloyed happiness, and it was the "old Virginny" of the negroes of that day; hence Dixie became synonymous with an ideal locality combining ineffable happiness and every imaginable requisite of earthly beatitude.—Philadelphia Press.

Recompense

When your dear friend becomes your guest,
You gladly share with him your best
And spare no pains to entertain,
And later, as his guest, remain
To find him all but generous;
Be not dismayed; for often thus
Our friends repay. Yet this holds true:
From other source the good we do
Doth oft return in later year
Full many fold, to bless and cheer.

Culled Truths

There is many a square peg in a round hole. Likewise, there is many a hole too large for its round peg. Some square pegs round out to fit their holes; the hopeless misfits must hunt other burrows. A big job soon betrays a little man. A big man outgrows his job and Fate provides a better one.

It is merely a matter of will for the little man to grow to fit his circle. He may even squeeze it out and stretch it. Then Chance taps him on the shoulder and beckons.

Destiny is the ultimate arranger. She holds the jobs and fits the right men to them. The right men are the wise men, and the wise men are the ones who meet the demands of the jobs they are after.
